

SAP Lumira

Sycor: Your experts for ad-hoc reporting with SAP Lumira

SAP Lumira means self-service reporting through the combination and analysis of data from various sources, as well as the convincing visualization of the results – without losing time, as needed and flexible.

We make the reporting functions of SAP Lumira accessible to you and your employees.

With SAP Lumira, users in the specialist departments can combine and analyze data from ad-hoc and company sources, preparing convincing visual presentations of the results – with no programming skills nor the support of internal IT. SAP Lumira combines a clear user interface with powerful functionality.

We ensure that your employees can access existing small or large datasets in the SAP Business Warehouse, other databases and in Excel for combination and direct analysis in the drag & drop environment. With SAP Lumira, reports are created as needed with valuable insights to answer individual questions or assist with critical company decisions – without detours. When you combine SAP Lumira with the SAP HANA platform, you can analyze very large volumes of data in real time to gain the required general overview quickly and easily or to examine the details.

Integration through the Lumira server makes it easy to share results with colleagues in comfort and supports shared processing. This results in greater transparency for flexible reactions and time-critical decisions. We enable access to business-related data at any time from the desktop or mobile devices.
