Sycor.ECM for Microsoft Exchange

Archive e-mails in a timely manner, comply with legal requirements and easily manage e-mails – we have your solution for efficient and legally compliant e-mail management.

E-mails have long been an essential part of our communication. Today, companies use their e-mail systems almost exclusively for internal and external communication and sending files and documents. As a result, the exchange of data per e-mail has become a business-critical communication platform that has to be working at all times. At the same time, every company now has to deal with issues relating to e-mail administration and management – from both a business and a legal standpoint. That's why we have expanded traditional e-mail archiving into a comprehensive system for managing e-mails.

Since the content of business e-mails continues to have legal relevance, e-mails must be securely managed and retained for long periods in order to meet national and international compliance regulations. And yet the task of securely storing and managing e-mails is often left to the individual user. The problem is that e-mail systems are not suitable for audit-compliant, long-term data archiving. In addition, little attention is given to organizing e-mails in a useful way, with the result that the company lacks organized access to e-mail content.

Sycor is the perfect partner when it comes to tackling these challenges. We have put together a complete package geared especially toward small and medium-sized businesses which combines our many years of experience as a consulting and implementation service as well as software packages. With a tailored turn-key solution for e-mail archiving, your company will have the necessary tools for managing e-mails from both a business and a compliance standpoint. This sophisticated complete package results in manageable projects with rapid implementation times and low costs. At the same time, it provides a foundation for expanding your solution into an Enterprise Content Management (ECM) system.
